GOTA SMOKEFREE CAMPUS?

Patrick Reynolds will help bring about a new tobacco policy or support your existing one.

He's a grandson of tobacco magnate R.J. Reynolds, but after smoking killed his father, Mr. Reynolds spoke out publicly in Congress against Big Tobacco. His advocacy of national, State and local legislation and his motivational talks at universities and to youth have made him a well known champion of a smokefree society.

Former US Surgeon General C. Everett Koop called Reynolds "one of the nation's most influential advocates of a smokefree America." His university lectures have received rave reviews, and local news coverage of his talk will bring a powerful message about tobacco to your entire community.

Mr. Reynolds has keynoted new smokefree campus launches for many universities, hospitals and corporations. In his talk, he'll also discuss e-cigarettes and offer an update on the state of tobacco control in your State.

Barb Coleman of Northern Michigan University's School of Health and Human Performance said this year, "The man is a dynamo. His energy, stage presence, clarity of message and desire to connect with the audience is phenomenal. His delivery is clear, POWERFUL and his visual aids effective in bringing points to life for the audience." Visit www.Tobaccofree.org/college/ for more info.
